Brokers as Doctors
How the Salesman Died
Business Chloroform
Farm Credits? Horrors

A prosperous broker, offering a large cigar, imitation of a small baseball bat, said: "These are $50 a thousand. A patient of mine sent them. I ought to send them back." Not by accident the broker spoke of his client as a "patient." It takes patience now to be a stock broker's customer.

Within the most recent rolling and setting of the sun four big companies have passed dividend payments.

The fall in prices reminds Lester of Chicago, who owns stock in everything, of the sad death of the Red Cross Overall Company salesman. The firm said: "You sell these overalls for $75 a gross, not a cent less. If you even discuss a lower price you are discharged."

In Syracuse they offered the salesman $75. He refused to discuss it. They telegraphed the firm direct. The offer was accepted. In Buffalo they offered $67. The salesman refused; the offer, telegraphed to the home office, was accepted. In Cleveland they offered $46, and again the home office accepted. Then came the terrible railroad wreck. The doctor said to the salesman, "My poor man, you have only three hours to live, can't we say anything for you?"

Said the salesman, "Yes, write a telegram. Red Cross Overall Company, New York. Smashed in wreck, only three hours to live. Before I die telegraph me what is the best price on these overalls?"

Wall Street has been gathering in big men lately, but early this week they were disappointed. They thought they had a certain gentleman famous for his skill in manipulating stocks.

"This fellow," said they "was $500,000. We'll just pull the string and take him in." They pulled the string and the man whose credit was suddenly cut off paid the six millions. "I was just waiting," said he, to this set which of you were my friends. The gentleman that they did not catch in a good judge of stock exchange human nature.

Here's courage. The colored man, who was a stock exchange, regarded a stock exchange for colored people exclusively. They will sell stock in the stock exchange and the stock exchange will sell stock in the regular way, specializing in stocks of concerns owned by colored men.

It is alleged that the Ku Klux Klan have established a branch in New York city. Colored citizens will probably decide that there are worse things in the world than a Ku Klux Klan after the colored stock exchange has been working for a while.

One comforting feature in the business situation—you don't hear the patient of the stock exchange has been done for financial operations what the discovery of the stock exchange did for the stock exchange.

In old days, when a man could pay his creditors, they put him through bankruptcy. His creditors signed, and he was all discharged, there was a smash. Now, the gentleman who they put him out and the creditors go in. All silently and quickly change and the machine goes along.

Have you noticed some newspapers screaming about the stock exchange is trying to do something for farmers, wheat men, cotton men and others?

It seems odd to the newspapers of high finance when layabouts suggest using a few dollars to help the producers that actually create the wealth of the country.

That the Federal Reserve Bank should supply stock gamblers with a thousand millions or more to play with all year round seems quite natural.

To supply farmers and planters with government credit, secured by actual wealth, seems horribly socialist.

None the less, if financial gentlemen know what is good for them they will allow the government, which they so largely control, to let farmers enjoy some of the credit. It would not take without them.

Holmes and Weston Arraigned With Cabot in Plot to Steal Coakley Papers

Godfrey Lowell Cabot, Robert D. Weston and Hector M. Holmes were on trial today before Judge Hugo M. Dubuque in Suffolk Superior Court today on indictments growing out of the theft of private papers from the office of Attorney Daniel H. Coakley.

Cabot, millionaire crusader of the watch and ward society, charged with conspiracy to steal the papers of Weston and Holmes, lawyers, are charged with conspiracy and with receiving the stolen property. The distinguished defendants were brought in, among those present were Mrs. Godfrey Lowell Cabot, Thomas W. Lawson, Mr. Coakley, and others. The case was quickly drawn. The first twelve men were accepted, there being no challenge either by Assistant District Attorney John P. Freney, or Edward J. McGinnis, chief counsel for the defense.

Here are the twelve men who will hear the evidence in the case which is the echo of the National case and of the bitter feud between Mr. Cabot and Mr. Coakley.

The defendants are: William J. Chaffey, Daniel H. Coakley, Edward J. McGinnis, Walter Gardner, and others.

Gale Furnishes Free Cooked Geese

Providence, R. I., Dec. 15.—Never in the memory of the oldest citizens have wild geese performed such stunts as they did during the recent southeast gale. Under the misguidance of an irresponsible leader, the geese wrecked the telegraph and telephone lines in Boston.

PLAN TO REFUND VICTORY LOAN

Outline of Republican Tax Program Given in House by Leader Mondell

By International News Service. Washington, Dec. 15.—Premise of reduction in taxes by passing a part of America's war debt on to future generations was made today by Representative Mondell, Republican leader in the House of Representatives. Leader Mondell outlined the financial plan of the republicans as follows:

Reduction of the income tax. Abolition of some special taxes. Reduction of heavy capital taxes.

Passing of a part of the present floating debt.

Redemption of the Victory loan. Drastic restriction in government expenditures.

Non-renewal of protective tariff duties.

Mondell's plan of passing a part of the war debt on to future generations.

PROTEST SACKING OF CORK

30 Members of Massachusetts Legislature Sign Resolution Condemning Lloyd George

More than thirty members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives today signed a protest against the sack of Cork and the looting of "Black and Tans" in that unhappy city by the British government.

Premier Lloyd George, to whom the resolution of protest will be forwarded, is bitterly criticized for his share in the misgovernment of Ireland.

The document expresses gratitude that the American people rejected the League of Nations and made "victoriously impossible an alliance between America and Britain's bloody government."

Here is the resolution: "To Lloyd George: 'We, elected representatives of the State of Massachusetts, sharing in the universal horror with which the civilized people of the world have witnessed your latest barbarism in Ireland, do hereby condemn you.'

Resolved, That the House of Representatives do hereby condemn you for your part in the sack of Cork and the looting of 'Black and Tans' in that unhappy city by the British government.

14 STEAMSHIPS DEMAND ARREST GONE IN GALE OF DE VALERA

Fail to Make Port on Great Lakes; Alabama Safe With 140 Aboard

By International News Service. Chicago, Dec. 15.—The Lake steamship Alabama, with 140 persons on board, reached Milwaukee today after having been driven across Lake Michigan by a gale that prevented the ship reaching Muskegon, Mich. She is to be held there.

Forty-four of the four of thirty steamships that put out from Ontario ports last Sunday, with cargoes aggregating $2,000,000, have been driven across the lake by a gale that prevented the ships reaching their destinations.

The War Office is moving heavy reinforcements of troops into Ireland. It was learned today. Two battalions have been sent since Sunday and eight other battalions are under orders to move.

Most of the four of thirty steamships that put out from Ontario ports last Sunday, with cargoes aggregating $2,000,000, have been driven across the lake by a gale that prevented the ships reaching their destinations.

Miss Daniels, Missing Secretary, Alive

Maud M. Daniels is alive! The theory that she committed suicide was definitely abandoned today.

Investigators and friends concluded that she had not taken her own life and discounting the possibility of foul play, turned their efforts toward establishing a motive for the strange disappearance of the Christian Science secretary on November 11.

CENSURE IS GIVEN OFFICER IN COURT

Peter F. Day, Boston High School Boy, Clubbed and Threatened by Patrolman

Rouly condemning Patrolman Richard F. Buckley of Division 13 for "cowardly and brutal" attacks on seventeen-year-old Peter F. Day, English High School athlete, Judge Charles S. Sullivan in the Charlestown Court today found the boy not guilty of assault and battery on the patrolman.

During the hearing it was brought out that Buckley had beaten the boy with his stick, on the street and in a patrol wagon, that he had taken him down in the police station and threatened to hit him.

Immediately after young Day was released from the station.

Postal Clerks Donate $100 to Basket Fund

A contribution of $100 has been made to the Boston American Christmas Basket Fund by the postoffice clerks of this city to provide free Christmas dinners for thousands of needy children. Although underpaid by the government, these loyal workers have found it possible to make this donation. This brings the total of the fund to $1,677.18.

In a letter accompanying the gift, John A. Kelley, president of the organization, wrote: "We have here with a check for $100 from Local No. 10, the National Postoffice Postoffice Clerks, to be applied towards the Boston American Christmas Basket Fund. I was, moreover, to congratulate you on the good work you are doing, and to wish you all possible success in your very worthy undertaking."

street on that day and failure to communicate with her associates.

1. That she sought new surroundings, that she sought to adjust herself to new ideas more readily.

2. That she is a victim of mental derangement and is an amiable wanderer.

Those who knew her best subscribe to the first suggestion. She was a woman of independent thought, they said, and of inquiring intellect.

WAS LIBERAL IN VIEW.

In Boston her associations were all bound to the Christian Science faith. She was secretary to Edward B. Dwyer, a director of the church, Miss Marie Le Clair, a Christian Science evangelist, shared the Dwyer home street apartment with her, and many of her close friends were ardent followers of Mary Baker Eddy. Yet Miss Daniels maintained an open mind towards the religion.

If she found a faith more satisfying than the one which she had been following, she would not hesitate to adopt it, according to Miss Dwyer. Daniels of No. 104 Marlborough street, East Boston, one of the missing girls few intimate friends.

"Maud was always following a gleam," Miss Dwyer told reporters of the Boston American. "She was an independent and ardent searcher. She was a most unusual woman."

AN 18-YEAR INTIMACY.

Miss Daniels was a sister at Radcliffe College when Miss Dwyer was a freshman. In spite of the disparity that usually separates members of these classes, the two women formed a fast friendship which continued after each had left the school.

They were accustomed to meeting for dinner and other affairs. Their engagements were arranged by an exchange of letters. The middle of October, Miss Dwyer returned from New York, and Miss Daniels called on her. She returned to Boston, and received a reply saying that the woman called on the date dated by Miss Daniels. She was notified by school chums.

On November 3 Miss Dwyer moved to the East Boston address. In another day she had been told here of the new residence and asked her to call at any time. To her surprise, Miss Daniels did not answer that message.

Was Miss Daniels as busy as November 1 planning her disappearance? Miss Dwyer is still puzzled by that incident. It was the first time in the eighteen years of their association, she said, that her home had failed to answer her inquiries. That Miss Daniels in some and clear the question of all her friends.

"If she is alive and doesn't want to be found, it will be a difficult task to find her," Miss Dwyer declared.

HAD NO LOVE AFFAIRS.

Although she had a number of male acquaintances, both during and after college days, her life was free of love affairs, according to friends.

She had no romantic ideas regarding love and marriage, she asserted at various friendships.

Some of the police investigators, however, more practical, are inclined to the mental derangement hypothesis.

A hurried trip was made to the Psychopathic Hospital in Brookline when the report came from there that a woman answering the description of Miss Daniels was in that institution and unable to account for herself. It was not the missing girl.

Boston's 18-Day Mystery

WHERE IS MAUD M. DANIELS?

Is she a victim of amnesia, wandering about another city, her identity unknown even to herself? Has she purposely hidden herself for some unexplainable reason? Will her fate, like Dorothy Arnold's, never be known?

WHO MAUD M. DANIELS IS.

Born in Canada, but has lived in the vicinity of Boston almost all her life.

Graduated from Radcliffe with the degree of A. B. in 1903.

Later studied medicine at Johns Hopkins University.

Was teacher at Miss Agnes Irwin's school, Philadelphia.

For a year was agent for the Associated Charities.

Studied business at Bryant & Stratton's Business College.

At the time she disappeared was secretary of Edward A. Merritt, a director of the Christian Science Church.

Was a Christian Scientist, an ardent suffrage worker, well versed in current affairs and in every respect a fine type of American womanhood.

Is forty years of age, but looks much younger.

out of Maud Daniels' salary.

Her friends, that she also never had a bank account and that every cent she earned was virtually spent before she got it.

In a letter to Miss Dwyer, she refers vaguely to her financial condition.

COMPLAINS OF BILLS.

"My new has been to the grocer store," she wrote. "Bills have piled around me, but now that Mary is settled on her farm I am hopeful for a much brighter future. I hope to join Mary out West."

That brief explanation of her financial state may explain her strange absence, some of her friends think.

She may have settled herself that her sister was contented in favorable circumstances, satisfied that her responsibility was ended and that she could hide her identity and yet have no practical suffering to those who were dependent upon her.

It also leads to the assumption that she suddenly decided to go out West to join her sister, as she declared she intended, and on route met with an accident or fell prey.

Autobus to Have Xmas Tree

The Bay State Automobile Association has completed plans for a Christmas tree in the Hotel Victoria next Wednesday. The affair is to include an elaborate ceremony and presents for each member.

Mr. Penney, appointed an assistant district attorney for the specific purpose of trying the case, stated that the matter at issue was a simple one. He urged the jury not to consider "wide issues" or irrelevant evidence which might get in.

Mr. Penney explained that Cabot was charged with conspiracy on an account of Holmes and Weston with conspiracy on one count; Holmes with receiving stolen property, two counts; and Weston with receiving stolen property, two counts.

He verified the report that Michael T. Hayes and Oswald G. Borden, indicted in connection with the thefts, had pleaded guilty, and would turn state's evidence.

Assistant District Attorney Penney said the state would try to prove that the papers were stolen December 1919 by Michael T. Hayes and that the theft was the result of a conspiracy entered into on November 1, 1919.

At a meeting November 1 between Cabot, his employee and Attorney Hayes, the defense talked over the chances of getting certain papers bearing on the so-called Hibernian case, which were believed to be in Mr. Cabot's possession.

HAYES ENTERED OFFICE.

They conspired to place a man in Mr. Cabot's office to steal the papers. That man was Hayes. It was thought that he could get the papers. That man was Hayes. It was thought that he could get the papers.

By telling a tale of poverty and lack of employment in Chicago, Hayes got into the office. He continued to draw $10 a week from Mr. Cabot.

He reported his success in instituting himself into Cabot's office, and the defendants sat at a meeting at No. 10 Marlborough street. They were told that Hayes was getting the papers.

"They thoroughly understood what he was to do," Cockley was away much of the time that month. His office manager was W. Hayes had plenty of opportunity to communicate the effects of the opportunity which he was to do.

On December 3 he did steal certain papers and photographs, and turned them over to Cabot and Penney.

"Cabot at that time told Hayes to take further orders from Penney or Weston. He said in 1919 was to know too much of the details."

They were told that Hayes was getting the papers.

discharged, he said his attorney, John W. Vaughan, secured a summons for Buckley's appearance in court next Thursday to answer to a charge of assault and battery on the boy.

Judge Sullivan characterized Buckley's acts as "unreasonable, uncalled for and cowardly," and declared that the police should be courteous to citizens at all times, and that a boy was as much entitled to protection as a grown person.

He added that he was not satisfied with the way the police had acted in the matter, after two superior officers had testified to seeing young Day on the floor of the Charlestown police station and hearing Buckley's threats.

In his own defense Buckley said that he was excited and frayed and wanted to give young Day "some of his own medicine."

According to testimony, Day, who is captain of the English High school ball team, a sprinter on the track team and an all-round athlete, was on Charlestown Friday night to visit his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Day, on Marlborough street. He remained overnight, starting home Saturday night about 11 o'clock.

At 11:20 the boy was standing on Main street, Charlestown, waiting for a car, according to the testimony when Buckley and Patrolman O'Neil, both in civilian clothes, approached, and Buckley asked the boy what was wrong.

Young Day testified he was frightened, and the men who looked like "muggers" and said, "You can have my 30 cents, but don't take my sympathy shoes."

At this point the shoes, which were wrapped in a bundle, fell from Day's side to the sidewalk and Buckley picked them up, according to the testimony. Buckley drew his club and struck the boy over the head.

Patrolman O'Neil testified that Buckley again assaulted the boy by striking him with the club, and that he was frightened and ran away.

Kimball testified that he was forced to make Buckley sit at one end of the wagon and the boy at the other, in order to protect the prisoner from the attack of Buckley.

John W. McConnell, thirteen testified he was using the telephone at the time, and that he saw Buckley and Day in the street, and that he saw Buckley strike Day.

He said he heard Buckley say: "If I don't hear from you, I'll be back."

"MOVIE" OF MATEFUL DAYS BEFORE MISS DANIELS VANISHED

For three weeks before her disappearance Miss Daniels had been a guest at the home of Mrs. Ludwig Eisenman, wealthy Boston street resident.

Thursday morning (Thanksgiving Day) she went to church with her husband and left her to go to her own home to take dinner with Mrs. Loflar, with whom she lived.

She telephoned Mrs. Loflar that she would be alone and would not keep her dinner engagement. Where did she go? Did she have a companion?

Friday, she rested at Mrs. Eisenman's house all day, it appears she was then planning plans for her mysterious disappearance.

Saturday forenoon she re-assumed her work in Mr. Martin's office, and returned after noon returned to her dining-room at street home. She was then normal.

DEFEAT OF WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE

Women voters in Massachusetts outside of Boston will not have to register a second time. This is good news for some 350,000 Boston is the only city requiring women to give their weight and height. In other cities and towns where women have registered they will continue to vote without giving any further information about themselves.

Boston women voters are up in arms because they have to be registered and give their weight and height. Every mother's daughter will have to enroll once again, because Mrs. Kinsdale, who is registered, was asked for her weight and height when she was asked for her name.

As a result, the women are directing shafts of sarcasm at the heads of the officials responsible. This followed the recent rolling up of eleven of the men officials; recent tearing of official heads and recent rulings.

"It's no use, ladies. We forgot to tell you tonight and weight last fall when we asked you if you could read. So, once again, all round, on the registration."

Yes, retorted several women yesterday. Of course, we forgot. We all have so much time to spare. What's a couple of extra registrations, among friends? Why not get into the habit of registering, every now and then, whenever we happen to be in the city?

In fact, the ladies who have got into the habit of registering, are prepared to give the officials such a piece of their mind that it will not result in peace of mind for the gentlemen who have made the decision.

Boston has been the scene of a series of such scenes, says Mrs. Kinsdale, who has been a member of the Boston League of Women Voters for a long time. If this data were necessary, she officials should have thought to ask it when women registered the first time.

"It is a very serious thing," says Mrs. Kinsdale, "for all the women who registered last fall to have to do it all over again. Just consider how many of these women have home duties, which make it very hard for them to get away. Many also, are professional women, engaged during the registration."

This height and weight clause was added to the registration law. However, if necessary, the registration officials should have had the right idea when the women were going to be registered last fall. The law may be changed, so that it may be legal for pollmen to ask a woman voter who has changed her address, even as now it is legal for him to ask a man the whole ruling is very strange. It is an affront that the names of many women will be left off the lists due to the fact that the pollmen are unable to get the women's weight and height.

"Infamous," says Mrs. Kinsdale. "I think the brothers really should be ashamed of the twinge of conscience at the waste of women's time. Mrs. Ford, had a letter last night. It seems to me that these facts of height and weight should be taken into consideration. It is supposed to have been done, last time."

"Infamous," again is the word Mrs. Kinsdale says. "I think the brothers really should be ashamed of the twinge of conscience at the waste of women's time. Mrs. Ford, had a letter last night. It seems to me that these facts of height and weight should be taken into consideration. It is supposed to have been done, last time."

According to his story he went to Mrs. Ford, who was still living in the same house with him and her daughter, and had offered to permit her to have a letter for her daughter to marry the girl. She decided that marriage would prove more satisfactory to her than a letter.

SENATE DROPS
VETS' BONUSDemand Poll Be Taken for Ex-Soldiers' Expression of Opinions

Washington, Dec. 15.—A poll of all former service men must be taken at the end of the year to determine the kind of bonus they want before any legislative initiative is undertaken by Congress, Republican members of the Senate Finance committee informed representatives of various soldier organizations at a meeting here.

If any considerable number of the service men insist upon a cash bonus, it was stated, very little chance exists of a bill being passed at the present session or at the extra session which will be called March 1.

This decision was announced by the majority members of the committee after the hearing had disclosed that considerable difference of opinion exists among former soldiers as to the kind of legislation desired. Gilbert Hottel, of Cincinnati, chairman of the American Legion's executive committee, expressed the opinion that not more than 25 per cent of the veterans are in favor of a cash bonus.

In the neighborhood of 20,000 former service men have written to the kind of legislation desired. The committee expressed the opinion that not more than 25 per cent of the veterans are in favor of a cash bonus.

Butman suggested that the poll might be taken by the American Legion, but this would include only 100,000 less than half the veterans. The committee agreed that a general poll of the entire 4,000,000 would be more valuable, but offered no suggestion as to how the poll is to be taken.

Husband Paid 10 Cents for Wedding Ring

Chicago, Dec. 15.—A ten-cent wedding ring and shoes that cost 10 cents at a bargain sale, were Charlie Kopsky's idea of a proper setting for his wife. She was arrested before 10:30 this morning in the Municipal Court on a charge of desertion.

"I ran away from him because he was cruel," she said, "but I was not a bad girl."

Judge Hagg was sympathetic in the effort to reconcile the couple.

DEFENDER SHOT

Magistrate Witnessed Brutal
Murder; British Soldier
Immediately Arrested

London, Dec. 15.—Canon Magner of Downway was shot to death when he attempted to save the life of a young man named Crowley, who was attacked while crying outside the house.

The attack on the boy, and the shooting of Canon Magner were witnessed by Magistrate Butler, the resident magistrate of that district in County Cork. He immediately went to the commanding officer of the British forces and the latter ordered the arrest of the auxiliary who was charged with the double murder.

Joseph Murphy, a civilian, was found guilty in a court martial of the murder of a soldier, who met death when a military lorry was busied on October 1. His defense was that he was not in the vicinity at the time.

MUGGETT JURY
STILL UNFILLED

New Venice Expected to Furnish 12th Man; Bar Defendant's
Sister From Court

Hyde Park, Vt., Dec. 15.—Lamoille County Court opened today—the fourth day of the trial of Arthur Muggett charged with the murder of a thirteen-year-old boy, when a new venire of jurymen from whom to select the jury was called to decide the fate of the prisoner.

The court today dismissed from the venire Miss Jane Muggett, sister of the defendant, because of advanced age and poor health.

There is a possibility that two of this number may have to be excused for being dropped from the jury because of advanced age and poor health.

Three men who had qualified have so far been dropped from the jury because of advanced age and poor health.

It is now indicated that with the he heard the trial will be a long one, probably lasting over the Christmas holidays.

WOMEN SIT ON CAPTIVE THIEF

Masked Trio Attempt to Rob Two Men and Their Wives in Astor Hotel

New York, Dec. 14.—Entering the Astor Hotel, in the heart of the city, three masked holdups men, armed with revolvers, backed Mr. and Mrs. Owen Lincoln, who is president of the New Jersey Motor Sales Corporation, knuckled a revolver from the hands of one of the trio and a rough and tumble fight ensued.

During the fight Mrs. Lincoln rushed to the window of the room and with unguessed hand smashed the glass and escaped for help, a policeman hearing the crash and the screams rushed to the scene.

He found the two women with their husbands, sitting on top of one of the trio, who lay on the bed. The captured robber's pals escaped in the night.

The arrested man gave the name of Lawrence Hamilton, aged twenty-two, of Richmond, Va.

MESSAGE FROM ERIN TO COUNTY DONEGAL BALL

At the annual ball of the County Donegal Benevolent Association in Douglas Hall, city square, Charleston, tonight, John Doherty, lately returned from Ireland, will deliver a message from Arthur Griffith, who he interviewed in Mountbrien Prison, Dublin, before leaving for the United States. Mr. Griffith was acting president of the Irish Republic before his arrest and incarceration. The proceeds of the ball will go into the sick and death benefit fund of the organization.

CLOTH THIEVES FINED $200 IN LAWRENCE

Lawrence, Dec. 14.—Fifteen thieves from local mills cost court defendants an aggregate of $200 in fines they. The most of the cloth was stolen from the Pacific Mills print works. John Korkney of No. 24 Chestnut street, was fined $100, and Salvatore Byleser of No. 102 Common street, was fined a similar amount. At the former's home, corporation detectives told the court they found 212 yards of cotton print cloth valued at $100.80. At the home of the other apprehensive there was found cloth valued at $100.

COOLIDGE SEES HARDING

Confers With President-Elect at Marion for First Time Since Convention

Marion, O., Dec. 14.—The man who will pilot the ship of state for the next four years conferred today with his chief officer. Together they discussed some writings and the route and route to be avoided and began to chart a course by the adjunction of common sense and public opinion and international conditions.

Governor Coolidge, when he arrived today, had the first real opportunity since the days following the Chicago election to consult personally with President-elect Harding. They met in the study in Washington in July, but that time sweeping changes have taken place in both foreign and domestic affairs.

It became known today that details of the situation in Guatemala, attitude of the government and plans for release of Manuel Estrada Cabrera, former dictator, have been forwarded here. The documents were accompanied by a letter from the president-elect to the president-elect in the Senate and public relations in the disclosure of the situation in Guatemala minister to Washington. It is understood they will be made available to the American press.

RAPS BLUE LAWS HIS 'IDIOCY'

Evil Seen in Prudish Statutes by Rev. Fr. Corrigan of Boston College

"Blue law legislation is wrong in theory and fatal in practice," declared the Rev. James J. Corrigan, S. J., professor of social ethics at Boston College, speaking before an audience of 1,100 professional men and women in Boston College hall.

"These 'blue law' proposals," declared Father Corrigan, "remind me of the early days of the American Republic. If we may judge from the evil results of such laws in the early days as witnessed to by no less an authority than Governor Bradford himself, nothing of good has come out of them, much of harm may be expected if such laws are written again upon the statute books."

History in against the laws and theories of the Lord's Day League. The Lord's Day League might possibly read early Pilgrim history to learn how futile it is to try to legislate people into moral living. The intolerable effrontery and assumed superiority of these inter-day advocates of Puritanic observance is in line with dreams of other revivals of personal liberty of late, where a fundamental and unqualified necessity have imposed their will upon a majority, thus undermining and subverting the very fundamentals of democratic government and imperiling American freedom itself. Pastoral minorities are always dangerous, but never more so than when they fancy that they are doing the will of the Lord.

"It is a fact of human history and experience, explains it how you please, that extremes provoke extremes. The rule is inevitable. When extremists become intolerant, reaction like the swing of a pendulum, sets in, and real change from such restrictive and repressive legislation, apart from the injustice, is the fact that it gives rise to contempt for all law."

"When there are upon the statute books measures which are not sustained by popular sentiment and public opinion, all law loses respect and comes into disrepute. It is the same when laws are not enforced save to the extent of causing irritation and resentment, law suffers in the respect of the community and the result is a reaction of crime."

G. O. P. FOR FIRST TIME LEADS IN N. Y. CITY

New York, Dec. 14.—Everybody knows that Harding carried New York City last month, but a little while a still more interesting fact will be revealed. It will be shown by a report of the board of election that for the first time in the city's history the so-called Republicans outscored the so-called Democrats.

Historic College Burned

Quebec, Dec. 14.—Fire destroyed the historic College of St. Anne De La Patisserie, about seventy miles from here, on the St. Lawrence river. About 500 students attended the institution. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

Haverhill High Boys Elect Officers on Capitol Steps

Probably the first election ever held on the steps of the Capitol in Washington took place the other day when boys of the Haverhill High School football squad, on a tour of Washington, elected Arthur Parisian as their leader for 1921. The photo shows the election.

FARMERS' CO-OPERATIVE BILL PASSES SENATE

Washington, Feb. 14.—The Senate passed the Cooper-Hersman bill providing for collective bargaining and co-operative marketing by farmers and producers of agricultural products. The bill was adopted by a vote of 70 to 20. The provisions of the bill exempt farmers from certain features of the anti-trust laws.

ATTEMPT MADE TO LOOT LAWRENCE STOREHOUSE

Lawrence, Dec. 14.—Thieves sought to gain entrance to the storehouse of Toulson, Smith & Hopkins, where a stock valued at $140,000, the property of the American Woolen Company, is stored. Leon Ralavsky, caretaker, discovered the plot to rob the storehouse. Ralavsky, who was inside, made known his presence, and the men fled. A guard of police was placed on duty there expecting a return visit of the thieves.

26 D. U. GIRLS WIN CHEVRONS

Students at Secretarial Science College Honored for Leading 'Sensible Lives'

"Just to lead sensible lives they have left us. Just for a chevron to wear on their sleeve."

—B. U. Girls' Lament.

For leading "sensible lives for twenty-four days, twenty-six and students at the Boston University College of Secretarial Science were rewarded by receiving permission to wear a chevron on the sleeve of their uniform jacket.

For this "honour" each girl had to have a total of fifty-five points to her credit, comprising ten for sleeping eight hours each night, ten for ten hours of exercise a week, five for low-heeled shoes, ten for eating only fruit, milk and nuts between meals, ten for correct posture and ten for general good health.

The twenty-six girls who lead this Spartan existence, out of the nearly 400 members of the student body, were: Louise Adams of Boston, Ruth Babb of Newton Highlands, Evelyn Bartlett of Waco, Edna Cahill of Everett, Josephine Doyle of Newton Highlands, Katherine Hills of Dedham, Vera Heap of Somerville, Eleanor Hill of Woburn, Anna Jenkins of Rocky Mount, N. C., Marjorie Kenney of Fitchburg, Edna Larson of Bow, Marie Macdonald of Marlboro, Doris Manning of Manchester, N. BOXER 'TRAINED' BEATING WIFE

Wife of Morris Lipshitz, Known in Pugilistic Circles as 'Belgian Brown', Gets Divorce

Morris Lipshitz, who is known as "Belgian Brown" in boxing circles, was declared to be a complete womanizer by his wife, Mrs. Mina Lipshitz, in a divorce suit filed in court, where she was granted a divorce on the grounds of cruel and abusive treatment.

According to Mrs. Lipshitz, who barely reaches five feet in height, "it was one thing after another" with her husband. She said that he was a pugilist and that he was a womanizer. She said that he was a womanizer and that he was a pugilist. She said that he was a womanizer and that he was a pugilist.

She was arrested from all three places," she told Judge Charles T. Bell, "because my husband beat me so much and annoyed the neighbors by his noisy and violent behavior."

She said that on one occasion he whipped her with a belt. This testimony was corroborated by Mrs. Lena Sherman, her landlady at the time. On another occasion, Mrs. Sherman said she heard him beat Mrs. Lipshitz in a bathroom.

The court had been told by him and that he was a womanizer. She said that he was a womanizer and that he was a pugilist. She said that he was a womanizer and that he was a pugilist.

20 ARRESTED BY DRY AGENTS

Find Quarts of Liquor Stuffed in Bodies of Dead Fish at Eastport, Me.

The activities of McArthur's prohibition agents within the last twenty-four hours, reached from Boston far north as Eastport, Me. A total of twenty men were arrested, including many quarts of good liquor from Canada, which were concealed in the bodies of dead fish.

This unique form of smuggling was uncovered at Eastport, Me. when a dozen fishing boats were visited and many of the liquor bottles had been removed from the fish. Leon Duggan and his partner, Edward J. Duggan, Jr., and his brother, Harry V. Cunningham, of No. 3 Kimball avenue, Boston, were arrested for operating a twenty-gallon still at the still and forty gallons of moonshine.

In Chicago, the agents took into custody Max Miller, of No. 148 Spruce street, operating a still and having in his possession twenty-seven gallons of moonshine and forty gallons of whisky.

At South Duxbury, Mass., the officers caught Dolphus Rivera of Camden street, with 10 gallons of moonshine and one quart of moonshine, and John Rivera of Boston avenue with 20 gallons still and 50 gallons of moonshine.

Four more arrests were made following the law in Pawtucket, Rhode Island, where a still and 100 gallons of moonshine were found.

At Providence, four more lawbreakers were arrested in the past working fishing squadron.

BRITISH FAVOR NAVAL HOLIDAY

Borah's Plan to Reduce Ship Construction Meets Approval of Bellairs

By COMMANDER CARLYON BELLAIRS, M. P.
(Voted British Naval Authority)
The House of Commons has today voted in favor of a 50 percent reduction in the naval program of Great Britain, Japan and the United States for the next five years, has the support of the people here, who believe that it is madness for the law to increase in a race for the arms.

I am glad that the present program is not a step towards a new race for the arms, but a step towards a new era of peace.

When we suggested a naval holiday for the Germans in 1914, before the war, the Times newspaper, in an editorial, said that it was a step towards a new era of peace.

That is the spirit in which we are now working in our determination to reduce the arms race.

It is not only the British people who are in favor of a naval holiday, but the people of the world.

A significant endorsement of the New Karo by one of the largest maple grove owners in Vermont

Explains why over five million cans of the New Karo were sold last year! A record:—

From the finest maple groves in Vermont and Canada come each year over a thousand tons of the purest and best flavored maple sugar to flavor the New Karo.

The makers of Karo are the world's largest buyers of maple sugar.

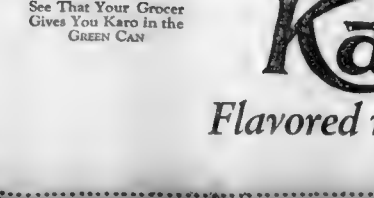

Which explains the purity and delicious flavor of the New Karo.

That part of Vermont, near Burlington, is noted for its rich maple syrup and maple sugar. It supplies much of the sugar used in the New Karo.

A tribute to Karo is the fact that one of the largest maple grove owners in this section regularly orders the New Karo for his employees.

The price of the New Karo is remarkably moderate—economical enough to serve every meal—and costs less than many syrups of similar quality and flavor.

Go to your grocer today and buy a can of the New Karo. Serve it. Compare it for price and flavor with any maple or maple-flavor syrups. If you don't think it's a real treat—your grocer will return your money.

Entrants in Our $5,000 "Loveliest Girl" Contest, See Tomorrow's Paper

MARION F. DOYLE, Springfield

ANNA L. DOYLE, Brockton

MARY M. HAMILTON, Portland, Me.

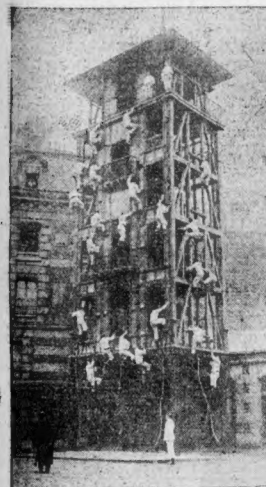

MAE ECCLESTON, New Bedford

FLORENCE HAYS, Waltham.

THE BOSTON AMERICAN offers $5,000 in gold for photographs of lovely girls. To the girl declared by the judges to be the loveliest girl in New England, the American will pay $3,000 in gold. To the next girl in merit, $1,000 in gold. There will be two third prizes of $500 each. In awarding the prizes the judges will have in mind Arthur Brisbane's definition of beauty. Mr. Brisbane says beauty is "intelligence in a fine setting." The judges will study the photographs, first for intelligence, second for health, and third for physical beauty. There are no strings attached. Just send in the photograph of your wife, sweetheart, sister or friend. All photographs will be given careful treatment and will be returned when the contest is over. Address all mail to "Loveliest Girl Editor," Boston American, P. O. Box 239, Boston 6, Mass.

HUMAN FLIES—Members of the Paris Fire Department recently gave an exhibition of daring rescue work for a distinguished group of visitors. The "building" was especially built for the occasion and is six stories high. (International.)

HERE'S A NEW ONE—Bicycle polo has become popular in Germany and furnishes enough excitement and spills to give even an American audience a thrill. Photo of game at Charlottenburg. (Int.)

SNOWDRIFT UNDER "L"?—Wrong, Harold. Just a photograph taken in a salt works at Stafford, England. The brine from which this is obtained is pumped from the earth. (International.)

HOW TO HANDLE THE HANDS—Marguerite Gale is said to possess the most expressive pair of hands in the world. It is simply the result of long practice. To many people the hands are usually in the way. Men put theirs in their pockets for want of something to employ them. What does a girl do with her hands? Watch them in the street car today. Keystone View.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION WRECKS WHOLE TOWNS—Thousands of shells were scattered about the countryside when a shell-dump at a munition factory near Milan, Italy, exploded recently. Several neighboring villages were wrecked and many people killed. The lower picture shows a train on the Milan-Domodonosko line, six miles from the factory, which was wrecked by the shells. DOROTHY SWIFT

ORA REUBEN

THE POPULAR CHARITY BALL, and entertainment for the Boston American's Christmas Bazaar Fund will take place next Tuesday night, December 21, at the Copley-Plaza Hotel. The affair is being run under the auspices of the Ample Burnham Studio of Dancing, and Miss Burnham will present a pleasing array of talent. Five of the cleverest of her pupils who will appear in the various dances are pictured above. There are many others. The entire proceeds for the evening will go to the Bazaar Fund. Every dollar will be spent on food for Christmas day. As for Boston's poor folks, the price of admission will be $1 for adults and fifty cents for children under fifteen years of age. There will be dancing to the music of Poppy's Orchestra of ten pieces. Vocal selections have also been arranged for and to cap the climax there will be a spectacular pantomime in which 100 children will appear. The pantomime was written especially for the occasion by Miss Feltzer, teacher of expression at the Burnham Studio. The public is cordially invited to attend and enjoy a splendid entertainment and evening's dancing and at the same time aid a most worthy cause. Dress will be informal.

Two Kinds of Suffering

MENTAL Suffering Is by Far the Worse

Copyright, 1920, Star Company.

Everything that lives suffers. There have been formulated a thousand definitions of life, from Herbert Spencer's definition, that nine men out of ten could not understand, to the little boy's definition, "Life is anything that is alive."

A good definition of life as we understand it would be, "Life means suffering."

Everything that lives suffers, from the worm squirming under your heel to Giordano Bruno choking and burning in the fire for having told the truth.

Millions of human beings inflict upon others mental suffering and think little of it. It makes the child a liar, it affects the heart, thus it injures the health. It decides the brain and stops development. The great Newton, who formulated the law of gravitation and discovered differential calculus, giving to the human intellect mental tools that will be used forever, was a most backward scholar. He would not study in school, if he had had a father like the well-meaning man in this picture to frighten him, it is probable that Newton would have spent his life in the dull clerkship that the government gave him and would never have been heard of again.

This picture, which to many seems quite natural, is a picture of intense suffering, and consequently of barbarism. It may be said "you cannot bring up your children if they do not fear you."

Perhaps, with certain kinds of children and certain kinds of parents.

AFRAID OF HIS OWN FATHER

This picture is a part of an excellently made drawing on the front page of the Literary Digest for December 4. The boy has brought an unsatisfactory report from school. The father's anger, the boy's fear, show in their faces. The complete picture shows also the gentle face of the mother, seeking to placate the father.

Law forbids whipping in public schools. But for such a boy as this a severe whipping would mean less intense suffering than is inflicted by the father's anger.

This picture, which to many seems quite natural, is a picture of intense suffering, and consequently of barbarism. It may be said "you cannot bring up your children if they do not fear you."

Perhaps, with certain kinds of children and certain kinds of parents.

In any case, it is well to realize what mental suffering is and what fear MEANS in a child. It makes the child a liar, it affects the heart, thus it injures the health. It decides the brain and stops development. The great Newton, who formulated the law of gravitation and discovered differential calculus, giving to the human intellect mental tools that will be used forever, was a most backward scholar. He would not study in school, if he had had a father like the well-meaning man in this picture to frighten him, it is probable that Newton would have spent his life in the dull clerkship that the government gave him and would never have been heard of again.

Thousands that would not allow a groom to frighten a young horse, or beat a puppy dog, for fear of "breaking the spirit" of the horse or dog, are breaking the spirits of their own boys. The child's ONE asset is courage, and FEAR destroys it.

STARVATION IN CHINA

This picture shows part of a photograph reproduced by the Christian Herald in the admirable campaign that its publisher, Mr. Graham Patterson, has inaugurated on behalf of 45,000,000 starving in China.

Forty-five millions are starving, 20,000,000 at least will die if this nation does not help.

In this picture you see an old woman that famine has already conquered, a child dying in his mother's arms, and the mother young, her strength still resisting famine. It is a picture of horror that disgraces the human race and the nations quarreling for plunder while millions die.

Every father looking at the dying Chinese child will say, "God forbid that this should happen to my child." Yet in the other picture, showing a boy afraid of his own father, there is suffering more acute than that of death by hunger.

Hunger mercilessly deadens the nerves and the brain. After a few days, acute suffering ends, and death comes in a state of torpor and indifference.

It is not so with fear, or other MENTAL suffering, that grows more acute as time passes.

You remember the often-told story of Ravalline, who stabbed to death Henry of Navarre. While they were breaking Ravalline on the wheel he laughed aloud. They stopped the torture and asked why he laughed. The queer creature, who believed that in killing Henry he had pleased his Creator, replied: "After you had broken my leg the first two or three times I ceased to feel pain." Thereupon they made the torture slower, that he might recover and feel, which shows what civilization was at that time.

Civilization is not much better now, with the world looking at millions of Chinese starving quite indifferent because they are far away, and their groans do not disturb us.

Civilization is not real when fathers that call themselves intelligent punish their own children with harshness, filling them with dread that numbs the brain and is worse than a blow.

You would have a man that shut your child out from sunshine and warmth. You should hate yourself, if by your severity you drive from a child's mind confidence and courage, that are to the brain what sunlight is to the body.

Fear is the beginning of cowardice, and cowardice leads to failure. DON'T FORGET YOUR CHILDREN.

For Some Must Watch, While Some Must Sleep

By W. L. D.

TWAS the wee, sina' hours of morning.

Streets by snowbound, white and still.

Through the open chamber window

Wintry air poured, hissing, chill.

Wropt in slumber's necromancy.

Fears begot by some dream fancy

By their horrors did awake me.

Came a still, small voice, "Dad, take me,"

Thrilled me with paternal burdens,

Never, never, felt before.

Out of bed I leaped unslipped,

Bare feet on the icy floor.

In encircling arms I caught her,

My low-headed baby daughter,

Who by head had been awakened.

And had heard her mother snore.

Figuring she could not make her

Ma place feet on icy floor,

Baby mine disclaimed to wake her—

Generously let Ma snore.

Ticked was I beyond reason—

All forgot the icy season—

Chosen I had been to take her—

Honored I had never been before.

So to show my exultation

And her mother's abnegation,

Like a dash of icy water

Went the cold feet of my daughter

Where her instinct doubtless taught her—

Sudden-like Ma ceased to snore

On the night's Plutonian shore.

So I slept—there's nothing more.

When She Smiles There's Murder

By W. L. D.

DOWN in Philadelphia, almost

Under the shadow of the gal-

lowed, this is a young girl whose fatal smile led to a murder

a little while ago. The girl, Marie

Williams—Phillips—Rocera—Rose-

Tradeau, is proud of that smile and of its power for evil.

Together with Peter D. Trade-

au, Marie, who is eighteen years old and has had at least four common-law husbands, is awaiting trial for the killing of Henry T.

Peters, wealthy Philadelphia manufacturer.

There is a lesson for thoughtless girls in the brazen confession of Marie Tradeau. Ever since she was a schoolgirl in short skirts

she has played with the hearts of men. Step by step she has progressed from girlish seduction to woman murder.

"When I smile, something always happens," she says.

"I am not afraid to be tried by a jury of men. I can wage them but it takes a lot of experience,

I've always gotten along fine with men."

And this is the philosophy of life of this sixteen-year-old

"ramp." Road her story in the Magazine Section of the Boston

Sunday Advertiser next Sunday.

What kind of husband did

Charlie Chaplin make?

Very poor, according to the story which Mrs. Mildred Harris Chaplin told the judge in her recent suit for divorce. The wife of the film's most famous funny man alleges that his treatment of her was far from kind. He wouldn't even come home for a Christmas celebration, and took his wife to task for having him so many presents.

By K. C. B.

Dear K. C. B.—May I not make an appeal through your column for our wounded men in the soldier hospitals, by asking your readers to invite a different or sailor to their homes for Christmas dinner?

I know how a home dinner with some family will cheer them up, as I was in charge of a service club during the war.

SUPPOSING.

THREE YEARS ago.

OR FOUR years ago.

YOU'D GONE to war.

AND BEEN shot up.

OR MAYBE gassed.

AND YOU'D come home.

TO A hospital.

HAD BEEN there.

EVER SINCE.

AND CHRISTMAS came.

AND YOU were getting alone.

AND THE doctor said.

IF SOMEONE asked you.

IT WOULD be all right.

TO GO somewhere.

FOR CHRISTMAS Dinner.

AND IN the city.

THAT LAY outside.
